DETAILED ACTION

Terminal Disclaimer

1. The terminal disclaimer filed on 11/12/2003 disclaiming the terminal portion of any patent granted on this application which would extend beyond the expiration date of U.S. Patent Number 6,405,225 has been reviewed and is accepted. The terminal disclaimer has been recorded.
2. The double patenting rejection with regard to U.S. Patent Number 6,405,225 has been withdrawn.

Response to Amendment

3. Claims 1-49 are currently pending in this application.
4. The rejection of claim 19 based on U.S.C. 112 2nd paragraph is withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 1-2, 4-5, 12, 19-20, 22-23 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent Number 6,529,942 to Gilbert.

Art Unit: 2142

7. These rejections as the same as those presented in the previous office action (Paper No. 4).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claims 6-8, 11, 13-14, 16-18, 24-26, 29, 31-32, 34-36, 37, 39-41, 44-45, and 47-49 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent Number 6,529,942 to Gilbert in view of U.S. Patent Number 6,157,934 to Khan et al..
10. These rejections as the same as those presented in the previous office action (Paper No. 4).
11. Claims 3, 9-10, 21, and 27-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent Number 6,529,942 to Gilbert in view of U.S. Patent Number 5,748,188 to Hu et al..
12. These rejections as the same as those presented in the previous office action (Paper No. 4).
13. Claims 12 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent Number 6,529,942 to Gilbert.

Art Unit: 2142

14. As to claim 30, Gilbert teaches the computer system of claim 19, wherein the document comprises a spreadsheet document or file; however Gilbert does not explicitly teach the use of a word processing document.

Official notice is taken that it would have been obvious at the time of the invention to use a word processing document because Gilbert already provides an email editor with word processing functionality.

15. As to claim 12, it features the same limitations as claim 30 and is there for rejected for the same reasons as claim 30.

16. Claims 15 and 33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent Number 6,529,942 to Gilbert in view of U.S. Patent Number 6,542,923 to Nguyen.

17. These rejections as the same as those presented in the previous office action (Paper No. 4).

18. Claims 38 and 42-43 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent Number 6,529,942 to Gilbert in view of U.S. Patent Number 6,157,934 to Khan et al. as applied to claim 37 above, and further in view of U.S. Patent Number 5,748,188 to Hu et al..

19. These rejections as the same as those presented in the previous office action (Paper No. 4).

Response to Arguments

20. Applicant's arguments filed 11/12/2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicant argues the following points: (a) The Gilbert reference does not receive a portion of a document and code that portion for transmission as electronic mail; (b) The Gilbert reference does not do coding in response to a send command; (c) Khan does not explain how he proposes to link the client and server other than to say by electronic mail or by the Internet; (d) the Gilbert-Khan combination does not teach receiving a pre-selected portion of a document, and in response to a send command, coding the pre-selected portion into an e-mail message, detecting a command to apply interactive control to the pre-selected portion, and in response to receiving a command to apply interactive control, coding an interactive control for the pre-selected portion and inserting the coded interactive control into the e-mail message; (e) it is not clear to the applicants as to where Khan teaches a send button that responds to the content of a pre-selected portion; (f) It is not clear how Khan proposes that cells be linked; and (g) Khan does not teach that the interactive control in applicants' invention enables a recipient to manipulate the content of the pre-selected portion.

21. As to point (a), the text format commands are considered code for manipulating the document. These commands are received from the email sender.

22. As to point (b), the text format commands are coded when the message is sent.

23. As to point (c), the applicants' claims do not explain how to link the client and server other than to say by electronic mail or by the Internet.

24. As to point (d), Gilbert teaches all of these features in the cited portion (col. 4, lines 54-67 and col. 5, lines 1-18). The email program receives portion of the document to code from the sender, when sent the email program codes this portion into the document to be sent. The coded portion is interactive in that it is dependent upon how the user wants to code it. Furthermore Khan teaches interacting with a spreadsheet and then coding the spreadsheet for transmission via email.

Art Unit: 2142

25. As to point (e), Khan teaches an email system therefore a send button is inherent.
26. As to point (f), it is unclear as to what claim limitation this argument refers to.
27. As to point (g), in the teachings of Khan, once the recipient receives the spreadsheet, he or she can manipulate the content.

Conclusion

28. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).
29. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
